

Upledger CranioSacral Therapy 1 June 14 - 17, 2012

Few systems have as much impact on the human body as the craniosacral system. It protects and nourishes the brain and spinal cord - and affects nearly every aspect of central nervous system performance. In this workshop you'll learn gentle techniques to normalize the craniosacral system and allow the body to self-correct. By unraveling pain and dysfunction at the source, you'll naturally help eliminate stress, strengthen resistance to disease, and enhance health in every dimension.

Pre-requisite Workshop(s): Professional healthcare practitioner, student in healthcare program or graduate awaiting licensure/accreditation. If you have never experienced CranioSacral Therapy for yourself, it is recommended, but not required, that you have a session prior to class. This will help you gain valuable insights into how the technique works and what its effects are on the body. To find a CranioSacral Therapy practitioner in your area, go to www.upledger.com.

Advance Preparation: The required reading for this course is CranioSacral Therapy by John E. Upledger, DO, OMM, Chapters 1-6 (Available: <http://shop.barralinstitute.com>) In addition to the required reading, please know the definition and/or location of the anatomical terms available at http://www.upledger.com/seminar_info/Terms/CSlterms.doc before the start of the class. The majority can be found in CranioSacral Therapy and Netter Anatomy: Atlas of Human Anatomy by Frank Netter, MD, which is also available at <http://shop.barralinstitute.com>.

Attire: Wear loose, comfortable clothing (preferably no jeans.) A light jacket is recommended because temperature can be difficult to control.

Times: Registration begins at 8:00 a.m. on the first day of class. A continental breakfast will be served until 9:00 a.m., at which time the workshop will begin. Subsequent class hours are 9:00 a.m. to approximately 5:30 p.m. daily, and the last day we will meet from 8:00 a.m. to approx. 3:30 p.m. Class ending times are approximate, and may run late based on class participation.
